The Rosary: the most powerful weapon to touch the Heart of Jesus

In thanksgiving for the decisive victory of the Christian fleet over the Turkish fleet at Lepanto, on the first Sunday of October 1571, the holy Pope Pius V instituted an annual feast under the title of Saint Mary of Victory; but shortly afterward, Pope Gregory XII changed the name of this feast to Our Lady of the Rosary.

The Rosary was instituted by St. Dominic at the beginning of the 13th century. Thanks to the zeal of the Popes, and the abundant fruits it produced in the Church, it became increasingly popular. In the 15th century, Blessed Alain de La Roche, a Dominican, was inspired by Mary to revive this excellent devotion. Later, in the first years of the 18th century, an extraordinary man appeared, rightly called the Dominic of modern times, and who was the great propagator and apostle of devotion to the Holy Rosary: Saint Louis-Marie Grignion de Montfort. Since Saint Dominic, there has been no man more zealous than this great missionary for the establishment of the Rosary confraternity: he set it up in all places where it did not exist; it was the means he judged most powerful for establishing the reign of God in souls. The Apostle of the West recited his Rosary in full every day, following his method, and had it recited publicly every day in his missions, and made it a point of rule for his followers to follow his example.

Through his daily Rosary, Montfort converted the greatest sinners and made them persevere in the grace and fervor of their conversion; he could say, “No one resisted me once I was able to get hold of him with my Rosary!” He had a thousand industries to propagate the Rosary and make it loved: there were fifteen banners representing the fifteen mysteries of the Rosary; elsewhere, huge Rosaries were recited while walking, in or around churches, in the manner of the Way of the Cross. He exalted the Rosary in his hymns; a thunder of voices responded to him, and all the echoes repeated, from hill to hill, the glories of this blessed devotion.

His work continued after him; it was with the Rosary in hand that the Vendée, in 1793, defended its homes and its altars; it is also with the Rosary or rosary in hand that Christian populations appear in all religious ceremonies.

“The Rosary is the most powerful weapon to touch the Heart of Jesus, Who so loves His Mother”.

(Saint Louis-Marie Grignion de Montfort)
